In Singapore, for new launch condos released for sale in 2019, the standard going price to own a condo is generally $1 million or higher. There are only a few condominiums that start lower than that at around $670,000 for a 1-bedroom. Treasure at Tampines is significantly cheaper, starting at $585,000 (for the base, 1-bedroom units) on its launch day on March 15, 2019. This fantastic price gathered the attention of consumers fast, and the units have been selling quickly. At this moment, the entry price is about $645,000 for the base 1-bedroom condo while the five-bedroom (1,722sqft) starts at only $1,886,000 (nearly anything else that size in Singapore would cost upwards of $2 million!). Please note that price updates are dynamic, and this page may not always reflect the most current price.
