Only 20 minutes from Alabang, Ayala Greenfield Estates is a magical neighborhood that provides residents with a true sanctuary to come home to everyday. With priceless views of Mount Makiling, Laguna de Bay, Tagaytay Ridge, and the Metro Manila cityscape, Ayala Greenfield Estates also has first-class recreational amenities, including its very own 18-hole, par 72 championship golf course designed by Robert Trent Jones II, the father of environmental golf course design. A community that works around nature rather than suppresses it, this 350-hectare development serves as the habitat of 35 species and 21 families of endemic and migratory birds. The flora provides a magnificent backdrop to any family scene, and the cool mountain breezes comfort both body and mind. This sense of being in a different world is made even better by an ideal location that keeps the conveniences of the city only a short drive away.
