The building would be great for an art gallery, hair studio, spa, or just regular offices. The building is on a busy street, close to all the big highways. The place where people check in is light and airy. There is a huge open space right outside the front desk that can be quickly closed off to make a boardroom if needed. An study, kitchen, guest toilet, and a full bathroom are all separate from the other rooms. Outside, there's a lapa with a braai that's great for staff parties and getting to know each other better. It's cool in every room, and there are lots of private parking spots.
